Performance Notes

Breath is a setting of 3 poems by Olive Senior and is intended to be performed as a single work. The sound of audible breath (inhales and exhales) is a feature of the work and, when indicated in the score, the singer should make the breath sounds audible to the listener without them being too exaggerated. The exact duration of the audible breaths is somewhat flexible; the singer can take some liberties with the duration, dynamic level and quality of the breath sounds, but each should capture the character that is indicated in the score.

T is for Time Wasting

OPENING TIME

Waste time	Spend time	Save time
While away time	Devote time to	Seize time
Pass time	Ahead of time	Make time
Mark time	In good time	Keep time
At whatever time	In no time	Measure time
Lose time	On time	Timetable

Endless time	For a time	Time Sensitive
All the time	Another time	Time of one's life
Over time	In time	Time honoured
At one time	The nick of time	Time consuming
At the same time	Just in time	Time worn
Timeless	At that time	Time expired
Lifetime	Time Out

CLOSING TIME

L is for Less

There's no vaccine for Mother Earth.
The cure is more of a withdrawal:

Less toxicity Less extraction Less plundering
    consumption

A poisoned earth is squeezing us to death

Ease up.
Nature is sending out an S. O. S.

The only cure:
Less is more.

B is for Breathe

It takes one's breath away: a man dying during a pandemic that takes away one's breath, no ventilator but one brave spectator, recording his last breath, his need please somebody

taking the knee on the neck from men who from birth breathed in tainted air, imbibed a foul history, burning crosses

still smoldering

I can't breathe

like the hot breath of anger consuming the cities we have breathed this before this white head this burning sensation in the throats of The numerous ones held down and mama

I can't

Come on, George Floyd, breathe in the timeless rhythm of Mother Earth waiting for you, for all her lost children, for justice

I'm through
